

Building Trust and Resilience: Child Protection Systems in the Baltic Sea Region

The Council of the Baltic Sea States (cbss.org) is an intergovernmental political forum for regional cooperation. Consisting of 11 Member States (Denmark, Estonia, Finland, Germany, Iceland, Latvia, Lithuania, Norway, Poland, Russia & Sweden) and the European Union, it supports a regional perspective on global challenges. The CBSS supports a global perspective on regional problems in our three long-term priorities: Regional Identity, Sustainable & Prosperous Region, Safe & Secure Region. Children at Risk is a flagship priority under the area of Save & Secure region, implemented by the Children at Risk Expert Group with the support of the Children at Risk Unit at the CBSS Secretariat in Stockholm.

The CBSS Children at Risk expert group (childrenatrisk.cbss.org) vision for the Baltic Sea Region (BSR) is that of a Region where children enjoy the full range human rights as set out in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC), including effective national child protection systems that offer comprehensive prevention, protection, and support, providing equal opportunities for all children to grow, develop and thrive free from all forms of violence. The mission of the Children at Risk Expert Group is to promote children's rights and to bolster national child protection systems, including legislative, administrative, social and educational measures to protect children from all forms of violence, maltreatment and neglect through regional dialogue and practical cooperation.

The expert group supports awareness-raising to promote positive attitudes, norms and values to safeguard the rights of children. The expert group places specific emphasis on child participation in all settings, including promoting strategies and action that engage children and their caregivers in shaping prevention and early intervention. The expert group furthermore promotes integrated strategies, including sustainable measures that have been demonstrated to contribute to real positive change in the lives of children at risk:

- Prevention, Early Intervention, and rapid response at first signs of harm
- Tailor-made Multidisciplinary Response and Support Services
- Encouraging a positive justice, law and policy setting
- Safe environments
- Parent and caregiver support
- Education and life skills, including investment in early childhood education.

The core strategic area and priority of the CAR Expert Group is to promote and facilitate regional exchange on key issues of concern to the CAR Expert Group Members with the purpose of identifying and promoting actions to strengthen national child protection systems. The key priorities between 2020-2025 in this area include carrying out a mapping of national child protection systems and good/ promising practice in the Baltic Sea Region to establish a Regional registry of good practice and practical, administrative and legal solutions to strengthen national child protection systems.

To support implementation of this priority the expert group, under the leadership of our current Presidency and Chair, Norway, is seeking an experienced researcher/team of researchers to carry out a comprehensive mapping of child protection systems in the Baltic Sea Region.

Purpose of Child Protection Mapping

The overall objective of the mapping is to identify and document key elements and practice of well-functioning, accessible and resilient child protection systems that are adequately structured and equipped to function to protect children, including in periods of crisis such as the Covid-19 pandemic. The results of the mapping are expected to contribute to:

- A collective understanding of national child protection systems in the region.
- Mutual trust among child protection systems and actors in the region.
- A systematic approach to documenting good practice and core elements of inclusive, sustainable, and resilient national child protection systems, in regional registry of good practice.

The mapping is an integral part of the key priority of the CAR Strategy 2020-2025 and is a key deliverable in a joint project, funded by the CBSS Project Support Facility, which is led by Norway, with the participation of Estonia, Finland, Germany, Iceland and Lithuania.

Focus and scope of the mapping

The project will develop a research framework, drawing on CAR cross-cutting priorities and internationally recognised elements of strong and sustainable child protection systems, including for example:

Legal and regulatory framework – implementation and enforcement

- What laws exist on protecting children against different forms of harm?
- How does the implementation and enforcement & accountability mechanisms impact on the child protection systems and their ability to reach and protect children? Have there been any concerns and good practice solutions during the crisis?

National Strategies and coordination mechanisms

- What national strategies and coordination mechanisms exist? Have there been any specific concerns that have surfaced and what good practice solutions to challenges during the crisis in terms of coordination have been identified?
- How has the crisis impacted on the implementation of national strategies, and what good practice measures have been taken to mitigate the effect of the crisis on implementation?

Norms, attitudes, and values

A key element of the research will be to look at how the understanding of children as rightsholders, and the perception on what constitutes the principle “the best interest of the child” (article 3 of the UN convention).

- How does the perception impact on the strategies and practice of child protection actors?
- What is the perception of different forms of violence against children, such as physical and humiliating punishment of children; gender-based violence; harmful practices, honour-related violence; the capacity and rights of child victims and witnesses of violence, and how does it impact on practice and protection?

Safe Environments

- What measures are taken to protect children in their family, community and schools, and online? How are children involved?

- How has the crisis impacted on the ability of the systems to provide children with safe environments and what good practice and strategic elements have contributed to this?

Parent and Caregiver support

- What measures exist to provide parent and caregiver support, including for example non-violent and positive parenting, early childhood caregiver engagement and support and parent/guardian understanding and supervision of adolescents as well as parental cooperation in e.g. divorce. How has the crisis impacted on the delivery of such support? Have there been any specific concerns that have surfaced and what good practice solutions to challenges during the crisis have been identified?

State Support – income and economic strengthening

- What measures exist to support families in need and to address child poverty?
- How has the crisis impacted on State support and what measures and good practice have been identified to ensure continued support, identification of vulnerable families, allocation of support etc.

Preventive, response and support services

Services play a crucial role in child protection.

- What services and practice for prevention and early Intervention; multidisciplinary and interagency services for victims; individual assessments; and child participation?
- How do the countries in the BSR ensure committed and aware workforce?
- How has the crisis impacted on these services and what measures and good practice have been identified to mitigate the negative effect of the crisis for inclusive, accessible, high quality services to children, in particular those hard to reach and the most vulnerable children?

Education and life skills

- How does the child protection system contribute to education and life skills? What measures and strategies exist to prevent and address out of school, mental health, alcohol and drugs, teenage pregnancy, and early marriage?
- How has the crisis impacted on the implementation and reach of the measures and what good practice had been identified to mitigate the negative effect of the crisis especially for those who are hard to reach and the most vulnerable children?

Child participation

- How are children involved in developing and implementing measures and strategies?
- What specific measures are in place in the child protection systems to enable children's participation?
- How has the crisis impacted on children's opportunities to participate in terms of space, voice, audience and influence? What measures and good practice has been implemented to ensure children's participation during the crisis?

Transnational collaboration and exchange

- Which transnational mechanisms exist in the region to facilitate exchange and collaboration in transborder child protection cases? Has the crisis had an impact on the potential transnational mechanisms and the collaboration, exchange between countries in the region?

Child welfare system organisation

It may also be relevant to explore whether systems are centralized or decentralized.

- How are systems organized and set up across the Region and how does that impact on reach, accessibility, sustainability, and resilience?
- What are the enabling and hindering factors in the different types of systems? Have there been any concerns and good practice solutions during the crisis?
- How does the child protection system interact or complement other welfare services for children and caregivers?
- What are the key challenges that are inherent to the way that child protection systems are set up and work, and how does that impact on children and caregivers?

Each element will be examined considering the UNCRC general principles (non-discrimination, best interests, the right to survival and development and child participation). Specific attention will be given to the most vulnerable and hardest to reach children. Other key areas of concern to the expert group include alternative care, children with disabilities, children in migration, poverty/social exclusion and parenting and caregiver support.
